PSC,

It is a shame that the state of South Carolina has both the means and desire to smother the entrepreneurial spirit of a company like Uber.. This country was founded on this type of creative venture that finds a unique need and fills the gap using modern technology. Glad The PSC wasn't overseeing the cable industry or we would still be watching three channels and getting our information from a library.

It doesn't seem like a terrible idea to provide South Carolinians the ability for safe, comfortable, and economical transportation while holding both itself and its customers to higher than normal standards. It also doesn't seem like a bad thing to employ thousands in the state either.

Shame on you PSC!

Richard Gold

To whom it may concern,

I recently learned that the South Carolina PSC recently ordered Uber to cease and desist all operations. As a frequent user of Uber both in the palmetto state and in other states while traveling on business, I would like to formally request that the PSC reconsiders this action. While I assume this action was taken with the best interest of South Carolinians in mind, I believe it was hasty and hopefully not at all influenced by any taxi or car service lobby. Uber is an affordable and safe method of travel, and considerably more convenient than traditional taxi services as it cuts out the operator and connects riders directly with drivers close to them, thus eliminating the long wait times often experienced with taxis.

Thank you for your time and consideration.

Sincerely,
Justin Neal

PSC...

The Uber concept and transportation system exceeds anything that we have ever had in our State. Please reconsider your decision for the good of the citizens of our State.

Ned Stribling
